Highlights of Lendonwood Gardens

1. The Welcome Center: Lendonwood's Welcome Center offers admission to the garden, maps and informational materials, a gift shop, outdoor plant sales rack, and restrooms.
2. Japanese Maples: Lendonwood has about 75 different varieties in many colors and sizes, especially from the two species Acer palmatum and Acer japonicus.
3. Daylily Display: At their peak in June and July, our extensive collection of Hemerocallis (daylilies) produces many flowers, each blooming for a single day.
4. Alaska Yellow Cedar Tree: This "weeping" Chamaecyparis nootkatensis is one of our most spectacular trees, typically found along the Alaskan coast.
5. Oklahoma Garden: This garden features plantings that thrive in Oklahoma's diverse climate, using specimens drawn from OSU's "Oklahoma Proven" plant recommendations in its design.
6. Monarch Waystation: Certified by Monarch Watch, the Waystation offers educational information and showcases plants that help sustain declining populations of the beautiful Monarch butterfly.
7. John Thornton Rhododendron Display: Many examples of the Rhododendron genus, being tested for suitability to eastern Oklahoma, line the pathway. They bloom in April and May.
8. Oriental Garden: A wide variety of Japanese maples, dogwoods and rhododendrons are found in this area.
9. Dogwoods: Lendonwood has about 25 varieties of dogwoods, including many colors of flowering Cornus florida and Cornus kousa.
10. Zen Garden: This Japanese rock garden is one of several Zen gardens sprinkled throughout Lendonwood, inviting visitors to pause for a moment of reflection.
11. Waterfall: Shaded by Japanese maples and viburnums, this waterfall is a popular spot for photography and rest stops.
12. Restrooms: Time for a break? Women's room on the left and men's room on the right.
13. Angel of Hope Statue: This statue, part of a national movement, serves as a memorial to lost loved ones, especially children.
14. Children's Earth Day Garden: Every year, Grove's third-graders celebrate Earth Day in Lendonwood by planting colorful flowers in raised beds.
15. Hummingbird Garden: Named for Grove's own "Hummingbird Lady," Ellie Womack, this garden features flowers known to attract hummingbirds and butterflies.
16. Azalea Garden: In springtime, this large wooded area offers spectacular views of azaleas, a beautiful flowering shrub in the Rhododendron genus.
17. English Terrace Garden: This colorful corner of the Gardens features numerous rhododendrons, a weeping Katsura tree and beautiful magnolia trees.
18. Thuja "Green Giant": This hybrid Thuja (or arborvitae) has become a landscaping favorite, known for fast growth and never needing pruning.
19. Dawn Redwood Tree: Identified first from fossils and once thought extinct, the Metasequoia glyptostroboides was rediscovered in China in 1945. This deciduous tree loses its needles every year.
20. Island: The island in the Koi Pond serves as a beautiful focal point of the Gardens, whether for photography or just enjoying the view.
21. Himalayan Cedar: This Cedrus deodara, valued for its timber as well as appearance, is native to the Himalayas.
22. Handkerchief Tree: In May, this unusual tree, Davidia involucrata, displays bracts (sometimes called blooms) resembling handkerchiefs hanging on a line. Native of China, Lendonwood's tree "bloomed" for the first time in 2015, 20 years after it was planted.
23. Japanese Pavilion: Built by Lendonwood's founder, Dr. Leonard Miller, in 1999, this pavilion is modeled after a Japanese home, but with open sides for viewing the pond and gardens.
24. Rose Garden and Wedding Gazebo: This area serves as a colorful focal point for weddings held at Lendonwood.
25. American Backyard Garden: Featuring plants found in many backyards, this garden provides a beautiful backdrop for weddings and other special events.
